Amanda Mulroony

Amanda Mulroony has joined Frost Brown Todd's (FBT) Indianapolis office as a Partner in the firm's Business & Commercial Litigation practice group. With a broad range of dispute resolution capabilities, Mulroony bolsters the firm's service offerings across the Midwest and nationally.

Mulroony joins FBT from Hoover Hull Turner, where she built a distinguished career helping clients navigate complex business disputes in Indiana state and federal courts. She has represented a wide range of clients, including closely held businesses, nonprofits, Fortune 100 companies, banks, and professionals, in matters involving contracts, business torts, defamation, ownership issues, employment law, and professional liability.

"We are very excited to have Amanda join FBT's Indianapolis office, bringing over 15 years of experience in complex litigation," said Kandi Hidde, partner-in-charge of the Indianapolis office. "Her extensive background in commercial, employment, and professional liability will further elevate the depth of service we provide to our clients. Amanda's sharp trial instincts, collaborative approach, and ability to navigate intricate disputes make her a great additional to our team and a valuable contributor to our firm's culture."

Mulroony has tried cases in both state and federal courts and has represented clients in appellate proceedings. Her litigation experience spans defamation claims, employment discrimination, non-compete disputes, and multimillion-dollar real estate development cases. She also advises attorneys and law firms on ethics and professional liability issues.

"Joining FBT feels like a natural next step," said Mulroony. "I've long admired the firm's reputation for thoughtful advocacy and practical problem-solving, and having worked alongside FBT attorneys for many years, I know firsthand the caliber of talent and collaboration here. I'm excited to contribute to a team that's deeply committed to its clients and its community."

A proud alumna of DePauw University's Management Fellows Program of Distinction, Mulroony brings a strong commitment to mentorship, leadership, and community service to her role at FBT. She serves as a troop leader for the Girl Scouts of Central Indiana and is a member of the Conner Prairie Horizon Council. Her professional involvement includes serving on the Indianapolis Bar Association's Litigation Section Executive Committee and the Indianapolis Bar Association's Bench Bar Planning Committee. She is also a Barrister member of the Indianapolis American Inn of Court, reflecting her dedication to both the legal profession and the broader Indianapolis community. In 2024 and 2025, Mulroony was recognized in The Best Lawyers in America® for Commercial Litigation and Litigation – Labor & Employment.

Frost Brown Todd's Business & Commercial Litigation practice group offers innovative, timely, and strategic solutions to complex legal issues in pursuit of clients' business goals. The team is known for its dedication from the inception of a matter through the entire lifecycle of a case. The firm's attorneys routinely intervene well before litigation begins, employing risk management and avoidance strategies as a core component of its advisory services. When litigation becomes unavoidable or presents the best alternative, FBT is fully committed to achieving a positive outcome and works aggressively toward the most effective and expedient resolution.
