Tony represents clients in a variety of litigation and dispute resolution matters. He brings experience in legal research, motion practice, and judicial analysis, drawing on a strong academic background and practical experience gained through law firm, judicial, and in-house legal roles.

Anthony earned his J.D. from Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law, where he served on the Indiana Law Review as a Note Development Editor. He was recognized for academic excellence with a CALI Award in Civil Procedure and distinguished himself in advocacy through participation in moot court, earning recognition from the Order of the Barristers. During law school, Anthony completed judicial externships with The Honorable James P. Hanlon of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Indiana and Chief Justice Loretta Rush of the Indiana Supreme Court, where he drafted legal memoranda, bench memoranda, and proposed judicial orders.

Prior to joining FBT Gibbons, Anthony served as a Law Clerk with Lumina Foundation, where he conducted legal research and advised on policy matters, including emerging issues involving artificial intelligence and regulatory compliance. Earlier in his career, Anthony represented parties in canonical proceedings as an Advocate for the Archdiocese of Indianapolis Metropolitan Tribunal, managing a substantial caseload and contributing to reviews of judicial practices. He earned his Bachelor of Arts from Ave Maria University.
