Brad chairs the firm's Antitrust & Trade Regulation Team. His practice focuses on antitrust, trade regulation, and other competition matters, including antitrust litigation, counseling, and advising on competition issues with mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, and other competitor collaborations. He also advises on the applicability of the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act to transactions and prepares premerger notifications when required. Outside of his antitrust work, he handles complex commercial litigation matters for financial institution, manufacturing, healthcare, energy, and insurance clients.

Brad also maintains a robust regulatory practice where he counsels on compliance issues with federal agencies, including the FDA, FTC, and TTB; state regulatory bodies and attorneys general; and the Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement.
