Camille focuses on complex financings of commercial real estate transactions in the multifamily sector, with an emphasis on projects involving low-income housing tax credits and historic preservation tax credits.

She earned her law degree from the University of Cincinnati, College of Law, graduating cum laude in 2025. During law school, Camille served as Executive Blog Editor for the University of Cincinnati Law Review and as an Articles Editor for the Human Rights Quarterly. She also interned for GE Aerospace, primarily working for the company's Sourcing Department where she gained valuable insight into the legal operations of an international corporation.

Camille participated in the firm's Summer Associate Program in 2024. Before law school, she graduated summa cum laude from Western Kentucky University with a degree in Political Science and International Affairs.
