- University Hospital (Public Private Partnership (P3) and Redevelopment). Currently represent University Hospital ("UH") in connection with its eight year $1.8 Billion campus

redevelopment project to replace and modernize its Newark facilities through a Public-Private Partnership (P3) structure. As part of Phase I, UH issued an RFI and RFP for a new 250,000-square-foot, ten-story Medical Office Building ("MOB") to consolidate outpatient services and house programs operated by UH, Rutgers New Jersey Medical School, and Rutgers School of Dental Medicine. Under the anticipated P3 structure, a private developer will finance, design, construct, and operate the MOB under a ground lease and lease-back arrangement, with UH as the primary tenant and no direct capital contribution. As counsel, supported UH through all procurement phases, including: (i) Drafting and structuring RFI and RFP documents to ensure compliance with New Jersey procurement and P3 statutes; (ii) Advising on delivery, financing, and risk allocation terms under the Master Development Agreement; (iii) Guiding evaluation strategy and developer selection; and (iv) Coordinating with state agencies and advisors, including the New Jersey Office of the State Comptroller. Gibbons has helped UH position the MOB project as a model for public-private collaboration in the healthcare infrastructure in New Jersey, thus advancing UH's mission to deliver accessible, high-quality care while leveraging private sector innovation and capital.

The transaction included the purchase of operating assets and the assumption of specified liabilities necessary to continue the business. The agreement provided for customary purchase price adjustments, an $800,000 indemnity holdback, and detailed closing conditions, including execution of key assignments, employment agreements, and landlord consents. The Seller's indemnification obligations were capped at the purchase price, subject to exceptions for fundamental representations (including title to assets, taxes, environmental compliance, and employees) and fraud, with a $25,000 deductible. The agreement also addressed employee transition, name change, and receivables collection, ensuring operational continuity and comprehensive post-closing protections for Quincy Compressor.

- Represented large multinational manufacturer as Buyer in its proposed acquisition of a target pursuant to a Stock Purchase Agreement for approximately $61 million. The transaction included customary purchase price adjustments for cash, debt, and working capital, along with detailed closing deliverables and seller representations. Buyer protections included a representation and warranty insurance policy and negotiated indemnification limits aligned with that coverage. The agreement also addressed employee transitions, restrictive covenants, and post-closing cooperation, providing Buyer with comprehensive risk protection and a clear post-closing framework.

of loss, ensuring a clean transfer of assets and strong contractual protection for the Buyer.

- (Executive Compensation). Represented our client, a senior executive at a major private equity firm, in the negotiation and drafting of a retirement transition agreement. He was the first high-level executive in the history of the private equity firm to enter into such an agreement, so the terms of his agreement would serve as a model for future agreements. I sought and obtained in large part that on a termination without cause, he would receive multimillion-dollar bonus payments and continued vesting of his equity awards. Total contract value of this agreement was $30 million. This was the first type of retirement transition agreement ever created in the private equity firm's history.

This acquisition expanded the Buyer’s footprint to 19 Buffalo Wild Wings sports bar locations and seven Buffalo Wild Wings to-go locations throughout Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania. The Buffalo Wild Wings brand/franchise was the leading sports bar chain in the United States in 2021 and the brand is owned by Inspire Brands, Inc., a global, multi-brand restaurant company. This was a complex transaction that required specialized expertise in a number of different practice areas and demonstrated the firm's seamless ability to work collectively across practice groups. The transaction included a complex asset purchase agreement governing all assets owned by the seller which included the transfer of seven (7) liquor licenses, six (6) in New Jersey and one (1) in Staten Island. The timing for closing for the transaction was challenging because the liquor licenses that were being acquired were required by the local municipalities to be transferred by a date certain that was established by the resolutions of each approving municipality in advance of the closing. The transaction also included the acquisition of two (2) real estate assets by a national REIT based out of California that specializes in triple-net franchise restaurant properties, with the REIT acquiring the properties and leasing them back to our client/buyer. The transaction also included the transfer and acquisition of seven (7) franchise agreements with the Inspire Brand.
