Practice Areas

Government Services

Municipal, Townships &
Counties

Schools, School Districts &
Universities

Taylor's practice focuses on serving municipalities, townships, and school districts. Her services include contract review, zoning/land use, labor relations, litigation, and other general governance assistance. She has experience working in government offices in both Ohio and Kentucky drafting resolutions, complex contracts, and legislative guidance. Prior to attending law school, Taylor worked as a paralegal where she gained valuable experience in client communication and case management.

Taylor wants to build bridges of connection between the local community and the law. She believes that legal knowledge empowers communities to foster collaboration among its members, provides them with tools to support their rights and influences the decision-making processes that shape their communities. She is passionate about human rights and social justice and aims to increase client awareness on these issues.

When Taylor is not working hard for her clients, she can be found traveling, attending music festivals, and spending time with her two cats.
