Indiana Automotive Council (IAC) Director Matthew Conrad Joins Frost Brown Todd

Indiana Automotive Council (IAC) Director Matthew Conrad has joined Frost Brown Todd (FBT) in Indianapolis as an independent automotive industry consultant. He will be part of the fbtAUTO team to support automotive business development in Indiana and across the law firm's eight-state footprint.

"The addition of Matt to the fbtAUTO team is key to our strategy in positioning the firm as the leader in helping auto manufacturers and suppliers in Middle America navigate their businesses," says Heather Wilson, Member-in-Charge of FBT Indianapolis. "Matt will also play an integral part in the preparations for our annual AutoConnect conference, a premier, national event bringing together OEMs, suppliers, investors and other key players for a full day of dialogue and networking around vital industry issues."

Conrad will continue to serve as Director of IAC, which is a collaboration between industry, government and higher education to grow and promote auto manufacturing and the industry as a whole in Indiana.
