

Oct 12, 2010

Categories:
Experience

Alliance Health Group LLC v. Bridging Health Options LLC

This case of first impression in the Fifth Circuit involved an issue of interpretation of forum selection clauses on which three other circuits had split. We successfully argued that a clause requiring litigation “in” a particular county permitted litigation in federal court, and not just the state court for that county, so long as the federal courthouse was physically located in the county in question.

© 2026 FBT Gibbons LLP. May be considered attorney advertising in some jurisdictions.