

Business Litigator Aaron Brogdon joins Frost Brown Todd's Columbus Office

Jan 23, 2020

Categories:

Press Releases

Authors:

Aaron T. Brogdon

Frost Brown Todd (FBT) continues to grow its litigation practice with the addition of Aaron Brogdon. Brogdon will serve as a Member at the firm's Columbus, OH office. A seasoned business litigator, Brogdon's practice includes general commercial litigation, product liability, toxic and mass tort, and healthcare litigation. A member of both the Ohio and Utah bar associations, he received his Law degree from Brigham Young University and attended Grove City College for his undergraduate degree.

Brogdon has successfully represented numerous business clients including a software company in trade secret claims, product liability matters for pharmaceutical and automotive components manufacturers and various matters for a chemical company. He has tried cases before the Sixth and Tenth Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals along with several District of Ohio and Utah U.S. District Courts.

FBT's litigation practice group has effectively resolved complex business challenges for every major industry both at trial and with alternative dispute resolutions in the most cost-effective manner.

© 2026 FBT Gibbons LLP. May be considered attorney advertising in some jurisdictions.