Frost Brown Todd Attorneys Close International Acquisition

Frost Brown Todd (FBT) attorneys from across the firm's 14 market footprint were lead counsel for forensic engineering company Rimkus Consulting Group in its acquisition of IRC Building Sciences Group. IRC is one of Canada's largest engineering and consulting firms.

Dallas Member Edward Moore and Managing Associate Austin Conner, Indianapolis Member Eric Baker and Lexington, KY Member Debbie Tudor handled the deal. Rimkus has more than 70 offices in the U.S. Canada and the UK. The company employs 650 experts.

"Rimkus has created a strategy for the acceleration of its growth that FBT has been able to support," said Moore, FBT's Private Equity industry team leader. "Our deep industry knowledge helps us advise Rimkus and other growing portfolio companies build their business and plan for future outcomes. We are fortunate to work with the deep and talented team at Rimkus and Century Equity on these projects."

The FBT Private Equity team has completed multiple strategic acquisitions for Rimkus, including a material capital investment for the acquisition of a minority stake in Rimkus by Century Equity Partners. The FBT Private Equity industry team was created to provide legal assistance to both private equity sponsors and portfolio companies.

FBT handles both the acquisition issues and related legal matters that arise from both investments and financings. Our attorneys recognize the importance of talent and business lines acquisition that grow portfolio companies.
