Frost Brown Todd (FBT) Columbus Member Sam Quimby and Indianapolis Member Eric Lamb were named to the third annual World Trademark Review (WTR) Global Leaders rankings. This is the first year Lamb has made the list and is one of only four Indiana-based private-practice attorneys to be recognized. Quimby has made the list each year since its debut and is the only Columbus, Ohio-based private-practice attorney to be recognized. WTR Global Leaders identifies the best of the best in trademark practice in the world. To qualify for inclusion in WTR Global Leaders, law firm trademark practitioners must be ranked in the gold tier of the WTR 1000.

Quimby leads FBT's Trademark practice. According to the WTR 1000, she is known by her clients as "tenacious." Clients note Quimby "has such an amazing depth of knowledge that she can often resolve even complex issues by placing a quick phone call" and "excels at distilling complex legal concepts into easily understood, practical advice." Lamb's clients told WTR 1000 that he is "the best US trademark attorney we have ever worked with" and he "fundamentally makes our lives easier and gives the right advice to help us achieve the best outcomes," all while providing great value.

With a footprint that includes office locations in 15 markets across nine states and Washington D.C, Frost Brown Todd's trademark practice group assists with all types of trademark matters for a national and global client base that represents a broad spectrum of product and service industries.
