Frost Brown Todd Cincinnati Adds Litigation Attorney Matt Arend

Practice focuses on the health care industry

Member Matt Arend joined Frost Brown Todd's Cincinnati office as part of the firm's health care innovation industry team. He assists companies with compliance, risk management, ethics and general business matters. Arend serves as a lead counsel for several Cincinnati area hospitals in numerous high-profile legal matters. His work also includes guidance with federal and state privacy and data security issues, including HIPAA compliance, breach analyses, cybersecurity and state data breach laws.

"Our team is excited to work with Matt whose industry expertise, especially in litigation, further deepens our firm's knowledge of our clients' businesses," said the lead of Frost Brown Todd's health care innovation industry team. "Matt's team-oriented approach is a natural fit with our client service model in the healthcare space."

Arend is a graduate of Notre Dame Law School. He has served as an adjunct professor on health law and policy for both the University of Cincinnati and Xavier University.
