Frost Brown Todd (FBT) is pleased to announce that it has added Ryan Preston and Sam Joyner as Members in the firm's Dallas office. Preston counsels and represents clients with respect to technology transactions, data optimization, outsourcing and other complex commercial arrangements as well as related areas of M&A and private equity activity. Joyner brings years of litigation experience helping clients of all sizes to protect and enhance their competitive positions by leveraging their intellectual property. He represents clients across a variety of industries and in subject matters ranging from patent and trade secret infringement suits to business litigation and antitrust and RICO Act claims.

"The experience Sam and Ryan bring to Frost Brown Todd is a huge benefit to our clients," said Dallas Member-in-Charge Eddy Moore. "Both have worked closely with Members in our Dallas office. This means they will be able to quickly transition and expand upon the work we are already doing. Their addition signals FBT Dallas's continued acquisition of attorneys with cutting edge legal skills."

In addition to his work in federal and state courts, Joyner has represented clients before the U.S. Department of Justice, Department of Homeland security and Texas Attorney General. Joyner is listed as a Texas Super Lawyers®. He is a graduate of West Point and a former Airborne Infantry Ranger. He earned his law degree from the University of Tulsa College of Law.

Preston earned his J.D. from Washington and Lee University School of Law. He attended Southern Methodist University and graduated with a B.B.A. in finance and a B.S. in economics with financial applications. He was recognized for the last five years by U.S. News – Best Lawyers® for Privacy and Data Security, Information Technology, technology and IT outsourcing. Preston has also been recognized by Texas Super Lawyers® and D Magazine's The Best

Lawyers in Dallas.
