

Data Privacy Detective Podcast – Episode 104: October 2022 Data Privacy News

Nov 23, 2022

Categories:

Blogs

Podcast

Technology Blog

Authors:

Joseph J. Dehner

October 2022 highlights for data privacy:

- Battle between the U.S. Federal Trade Commission and a data broker over whether the FTC has authority over its practices
- U.S. Government orders federal agencies to push NIST Guideline compliance throughout the software supply chain
- Survey reports 2nd quarter jump in data breaches
- France fines Clearview over facial recognition
- A Dutch Court awards a fired employee damages from the employer's webcam rules
- EU acts to harmonize procedural laws to aid GDPR enforcement
- Biden Administration issues Executive Order at third attempt at a safe harbor approach to allow data transfers between U.S. and EU
- First conviction of a company security chief arising from data breach response
- White House issues Blueprint for an AI Bill of Rights.

Whew! A lot happening. Tune in for the meaning and implications of these events.

If you have ideas for more interviews or stories, please email info@thedataprivacydetective.com.

Privacy & Data Security Weekly Update

Need more Data Privacy updates?

Three things that happened recently. Three things you want to know. Three things moving forward. Delivered to your inbox weekly.

Newsletter Sign Up

© 2026 FBT Gibbons LLP. May be considered attorney advertising in some jurisdictions.