Frost Brown Todd (FBT) Partners Sam Quimby and Eric Lamb were named to the fifth annual World Trademark Review (WTR) Global Leaders rankings. The list identifies attorneys in both corporate and private practice who excel in the trademark profession. This is the third year WTR included Lamb, who is one of only four Indiana-based attorneys to receive the honor. Quimby, the head of FBT's trademark practice, has been recognized since the ranking's inception and remains the only Columbus attorney to ever be listed (and is one of only five Ohio-based attorneys to receive the honor this year).

To qualify for inclusion in WTR Global Leaders, law firm trademark practitioners must be ranked in the gold tier of the WTR 1000. According to the WTR 1000, Lamb is known to provide "high-level strategic and business advice and is a results-driven, cost-effective lawyer." In turn, Quimby's clients have described her as a "responsive, smart, practical lawyer who is easy to work with."

With a national footprint that includes offices in 16 markets across eight states and Washington D.C., FBT's trademark practice group assists a broad spectrum of local and international companies in all types of trademark matters.
